Staffing: ED- NAC 0.9 evenings (new), RN- (3) 0.6 variable shifts, 0.9 Nights MSP- NAC 0.9 days, NO RN OPENINGS 😊, ICU- RN (2) 0.6 nights; Surgery- RN 1.0 days, Surg Tech- 0.8 days. Total open RN positions- 4.3 FTE's

We are currently conducting our 'skills' week this week. Skills are an annual requirement and include training and return demonstrations on high risk, low volume equipment.

Pay by the minute - we continue to run into issues with programming errors and are working with our vendor for solutions. Manual tracking on MSP revealed <1% missed meal/rest breaks. MSP is the largest, busiest unit and I feel confident if they are <1%, the other departments are as well.

Telesitter program is in development, and we are working towards go-live the beginning of May.

Flu volumes are high. We had >50% of our rooms with isolation patients (10/17 rooms on MSP). This creates capacity constraints because we cannot room patients together in most cases. Overall volumes have been high in the past few weeks, and we reached 25 most days the week of January 27th. Morale remains high.
